OVER A CENTURY OF BEAUTIFUL DOLLS

For over 100 years, Madame Alexander has made dolls with Love in the Details. The pinnacle of quality and play value, Madame Alexander dolls have taught generations of children imaginative, nurturing play, and inspired doll lovers of all ages.

Madame Beatrice Alexander was a true American original and pioneer. In 1923, she founded the Alexander Doll Company and revolutionized the doll industry. Today, her legacy lives on as the Madame Alexander brand continues to make inspiring dolls that reflect our changing world and create kind kids for generations to come.

Due to the handcrafted nature of each Madame Alexander creation, products, contents and color may vary. Items are UPC coded.

ABOUT MADAME ALEXANDER DOLL COMPANY

Madame Alexander envisioned dolls as valuable learning tools to teach children empathy, compassion, and responsibility. Drawing upon decades of dollmaking heritage and expertise, Madame Alexander dolls can be cherished for years to come, and passed from generation to generation. All Madame Alexander dolls are beautifully designed with the credo “love is in the details” in mind to encourage a lifetime of play and collecting.

A CENTURY OF DOLLMAKING

As a child, Beatrice Alexander spent time in her stepfather’s doll hospital. She saw the sadness of children surrendering their broken porcelain dolls for repair. Understanding that doll play created kinder kids and was important in child development, she made it her mission to create dolls that could be played with and loved. She was inspired to found her doll company in 1923, revolutionizing the doll industry. Her many innovations included:

- Madame was a groundbreaking female entrepreneur in a male-dominated world.
- While her first dolls were cloth and composition, Madame made dolls both lifelike and unbreakable through the innovative use of plastics.
- Madame Alexander was first to license characters from books, movies and television.
- Madame Alexander dolls popularized “sleep eyes” and the first walking dolls.
- In 1955, she debuted Cissy, the first fashion doll in America - opening the world of doll play to older children, and to collectors.
- In recognition for all her creativity and innovations she was inducted into the prestigious Toy Industry Hall of Fame.

For over 100 years, Madame Alexander dolls have grown up with Americans of all ages and have been lovingly passed from generation to generation. Today, Madame Alexander dolls continue to evolve to meet the needs of today’s parents and kids, while maintaining the core values of quality, imaginative play, and love in the details.
